RIP Harry will miss you, will miss the fishing trips.. I have a fishing story..about 20 years ago Harry, Frank, Kenny, myself and about 7 or 8 other friends went up to eleven mile reservoir, it was mid April and freezing cold, I mean freezing cold, so around midnight were all out fishing on shore with our poles and lanterns Harry starts complaining it's to cold its to damn cold, Harry said i think my ears are getting frostbite there starting to burn, so after 20 more minutes Harry said I've had enough I'm going to the trailer, we all fished for another 30 min, finally someone said lets go warm up and check on Harry, we all squeezed in the trailer trying to get warm, Harry was laying face down on the sofa bed, we couldn't see his face still holding his ears and complaining they hurt, they hurt my ears hurt so bad, we put the stove burners on and told Harry get up, get close to the fire and warm up, Harry gets up still holding his ears he looks up at us, puts his hands down and these huge rubber ears pop out, it got quiet we just stared at him till we realized they were fake, we started laughing so hard we all had tears rolling down our face's, the door to the trailer kicked open we all started falling out on to the ground laughing so hard....

“ *Quintana Family,
My prayers are with all of you.*

I will never forget the last time I saw Harry. There was so much peace in his face and in his words. The peace that only the Lord can bring. I was blessed and encouraged by his faith. His main concern was that his family would know and love the Lord as he did. Even when he was in the battle with cancer, he was thinking of his family.

Love to all of you.
